Revision to BOR 301.9 – Academic Suspension Policy

THAT

The Board of Regents approves revisions to BOR Policy 301.9 – Academic Suspension Policy to suggest different language/terminology when communicating to students, change the way students are placed or at risk of placement in a suspension or warning status, and provide flexibility to campuses as they work to support students on warning or suspension seeking reinstatement.

EXPLANATION

The proposed changes would update Board Policy to align with the Montana University System’s goals of placing student success and support at the center of all operational procedures. These proposed changes assist in providing a structure that will help campuses identify students who are in academic jeopardy so that students are provided timely support. Alongside these support structures are language adjustments that reflect campus commitment to student success and support.
