I. Board Policy

A. All applicants for admission and students at the campuses of the Montana University System (MUS) shall be classified as in-state or out-of-state for tuition and fee purposes, admission to the campuses, and admission to programs of limited enrollment. A student who is not classified as in-state is considered to be out-of-state. The test for residency for tuition and fee purposes is unique, and residency requirements for other purposes may differ. The following criteria and procedure shall be applied at all campuses.

B. Except as provided in subsections GH and HI, a person may be classified as in-state after providing documentation showing that the person has been domiciled in Montana for at least 12 consecutive months. Domicile requires both physical presence and evidence of intent to stay following a 12-month continuous period of domicile in Montana with a documented and dated intent to become a resident of Montana as provided Evidence of intent to stay includes relinquishing all valid legal ties with a former state of residence and affirmatively creating legal ties and relationships with Montana in subsections C through F. Individuals who are in Montana on a temporary basis (e.g., for the purpose of completing a degree) cannot establish domicile merely by taking an action evidencing Montana domicile. During the 12-month period and thereafter for as long as in-state status is desired, the person seeking or granted in-state status must act in a manner consistent with Montana residency.

C. 1. The 12-month period referred to in subsection B does not begin to run until To establish Montana domicile, a person must establish legal ties to Montana as set forth below. These acts must be completed, issued, or dated at least 12 consecutive months before the term for which the person seeks in-state status. Failure to fulfill all three requirements is disqualifying an act indicative of intent to become a Montana resident is taken. The following acts will serve as such indicators, although one act is not definitive of all acts that may be necessary to be classified as in-state under this policy:

(a) For individuals who own or operate a vehicle in Montana, Registering a motor vehicle owned or operated by the person seeking in-state status is registered in Montana;
(b) Acquiring For someone with a valid out-of-state driver’s license, getting a Montana driver’s license. If an individual does not drive or possess an out-of-state driver’s license, the individual must obtain a Montana Identification Card is acquired; and
(c) Registering to vote in Montana, if previously registered to vote in a former state of residence.
(b) A Montana voter registration is acquired.
(c) A principal residence is purchased in Montana.

History:

2. In addition to establishing legal ties to Montana as set forth in subsection C.1, a person seeking in-state status must sever all ties to past places of residence at least 12 months before the term for which the person seeks in-state status. Conduct that is disqualifying for purposes of in-state status includes but is not limited to attending an out-of-state school as a resident of the state in which the school is located, paying taxes in another state as a resident of that state, maintaining an out-of-state driver’s license or identification card, or maintaining voter registration in another state.

3. In addition to the above indicators, a person seeking in-state status who is the dependent of a parent or legal guardian must submit documentation of financial dependence, and the parent or legal guardian and the dependent must demonstrate domicile in Montana by meeting the test set out in subsections C.1 and 2. In addition, the parent or legal guardian must file any required resident Montana tax return for all taxable income earned during the period in which residency is claimed.

2. A person seeking in-state status who is not the dependent of a parent or legal guardian must:
   (a) meet the test set out in subsections C.1 and 2;
   (b) file any required resident Montana tax return for all taxable income earned during the period in which residency is claimed, and
   (c) submit documentation of financial dependence from any nonresident entity or person, including a parent, guardian, or spouse, for a minimum period of 12 continuous months during the period in which residency is claimed. “Financially independent” means the person seeking residency derives less than 50% of all income and financial support from any other nonresident entity or person and pays for the majority of their expenses (including cost of attendance and room/board) with their own independent income and resources. It also means the person seeking residency was not and will not be claimed as a dependent on another person’s tax returns for the period during which residency is claimed.

Only in the event that none of the above indicators are appropriate, the person seeking in-state status who cannot meet the requirements of subsections C.1 and C.2 may file an affidavit of intent to establish residency if exceptional circumstances exist. Exceptional circumstances include, for example, seeking refuge from domestic violence or remaining in Montana as a minor when a parent moves from Montana to establish residency elsewhere. Filing an affidavit of intent does not guarantee resident classification. A form may be obtained from and must be filed with the campus. Other actions may be considered as indicators provided that the action is clearly indicative of an intent to establish residency and is not an action that students routinely take.

History:
D.

1. During the 12-month period and thereafter for as long as in-state status is desired, the person seeking or granted in-state status must act in a manner consistent with Montana residency, including all legal obligations and responsibilities based upon such residency. Enjoyment of a status, receipt of benefits, or exercises of a right or privilege inconsistent with or in contradiction of Montana residency may be a basis for classification as out-of-state.

2. The 12-month period does not run for any period during which the person enjoys a status, receives a benefit, or exercises a right or privilege based upon residency outside of Montana, or which negates the intent to become a Montana resident. For example, the 12-month period does not run for any period in which the person maintains legal ties to another state or country such as a driver’s license, vehicle registration, voter registration, or tax liability, regardless of the person’s reasons for establishing or maintaining such ties.

(a) It is presumed that the domicile of a minor or unemancipated person is that of the person’s parents or legal guardian. If a minor is an emancipated minor for purposes of completing the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) form, this presumption does not apply.

(b) If the parents are divorced, separated or deceased, it is presumed that the minor or unemancipated person will be presumed is a resident if either:

(i) The parent or legal guardian with whom the student normally resides is a resident of Montana, or

(ii) The parent or legal guardian who takes the student as an exemption for federal income tax purposes or supplies a majority of the support for the student is a resident of Montana.

2. It is presumed that a person absent from Montana in excess of 30 days during the 12-month period upon which in-state status is claimed lacks the necessary intent to acquire Montana residency as required by subsection B.

3. It is presumed that a person who obtained a loan, financial assistance, or any benefit requiring residence in another state, such as a WUE or other academic scholarship, is not eligible for in-state status.

(a) It is presumed that, in the case of an individual who would have formerly been eligible for in-state status based on meeting the residency requirements but who has been absent from Montana for a period of 12 months or more, that such individual has abandoned in-state status. This presumption does not apply to individuals who can demonstrate satisfaction of the 12-month residency requirement subsequent to after the absence. This presumption does not apply to absences from the state for purposes of post-secondary education or service in the armed forces of the United States provided the individual has not taken any actions in contradiction of the claim of Montana residency.

(b) Notwithstanding the terms of this section, former Montana residents may be re-classified as in-state without serving a 12-month period of physical domicile in Montana if the student person is unable to cannot be present in Montana for the required 12-months due to his or her active duty service in the armed forces in an active duty military assignment. The student person must demonstrate re-establishment of Montana residency in all other ways required of the policy for a period 12 months prior to before the applying application for residency. For purposes of this policy, membership in ROTC, in the reserves or in the National Guard, does not, in itself, qualify as active duty. Active duty military status cannot be achieved by attending school.

4—5. It is presumed that any person, not eligible for in-state status under this policy, who is registered for more than half of a full-time credit load as defined by the program of study in excess of one-half of a normal full-time credit load, including online credits from any institution of higher education, is present in the state primarily for educational purposes and cannot, and such periods may not be applied to the 12-month period referred to in subsection B. Qualify for residency unless the person can demonstrate with clear and convincing evidence that they moved to Montana primarily for purposes other than education.

(a) For purposes of this subsection "in excess of one-half of a normal full-time credit load" means:

(i) Any period of time for which an undergraduate student is registered for more than 7 semester credits (or more than 8 semester credits if the institution utilizes a block scheduling program), or

(ii) Any period of time for which a graduate student is registered for in excess of half of the minimum full-time credit load for graduate students as defined for financial aid purposes by the institution at which the student is enrolled.

5—6. In order: A presumption can be overcome with to overcome any of the above presumptions, the person desiring in-state status must do so by clear and convincing evidence, which is evidence in which there is no serious or substantial doubt about the correctness of the conclusions drawn from the evidence.

E. If a person, who did not qualify for in-state status or who had not taken acts indicative of an intent to establish Montana residency prior to imprisonment, is incarcerated in a Montana state or local penal institution, the time spent in a Montana state or local penal institution may not apply towards satisfaction of the 12-month residency requirement unless the incarcerated person took acts indicating an intent to establish Montana residency before imprisonment.

Students who can demonstrate previous Montana residency under this policy but who later abandoned residency may regain residency under this subsection following completion of a 12-month continuous period of domicile as provided in subsections C-EE. Students obtaining in-state status under subsection HI below are not eligible for these professional student exchange programs.

In addition, the student must have maintained a primary residence in Montana for at least 12 consecutive months immediately before the student’s first admitted semester. The Montana residence must be for purposes other than postsecondary education. If the student took more than 7 credits (or more than 8 credits on a block schedule) at an institution of higher education during the 12-month period, the student must prove by clear and convincing evidence that the student has a Montana residence for reasons other than postsecondary education. This subsection does not apply to students who can demonstrate previous Montana residency under this policy and who have not abandoned residency, is not eligible for reclassification as an in-state resident and shall remain classified as an out-of-state student for the duration of the student’s enrollment in the professional program. A student classified as out-of-state who maintains the initial classification was in error may only seek reclassification pursuant to the procedures of this policy prior to the start of the initial term of enrollment or matriculation into the program. For purposes of this subsection, the term “professional degree program” means a program of law, pharmacy, or physical therapy.
